

2017 National Arts in Education Week Events Butler Arts Center's Clowes Memorial Hall

CLOWES MEMORIAL HALL

BUTLER ARTS CENTER

Public Gallery Tour:

"The Unspoken Word" With Bonnie Stahlecker

Tuesday, September 12, 2017

6:00 – 7:00 PM

Free for students, teachers, parents

Clowes Memorial Hall Lobby

Full exhibition – Tuesday, September 12 – Sunday, October 22, 2017

Join Bonnie Stahlecker as she shares the art of traditional and non-traditional bookmaking through her artwork on display in the lobby spaces of Clowes Memorial Hall.

Scholastic
Art & Writing
Awards

Scholastic Art & Writing Awards Student Workshop:

Writing by Genre – Demystifying the Writing Experience

Tuesday, September 12, 2017

7:00 – 8:30 PM

For students of Grades 7-12 and supporting adults (parents, teachers, writing instructors) as observers

Clowes Memorial Hall, Krannert Room

Facilitated by: Bill Kenley, Creative Writing Teacher

$10.00 for student participants; $5.00 for adult observers

In this workshop students and teachers (and other supporting adults) will learn to quickly generate useable plots for stories, to write in scenes, and to tap into their own knowledge of the conventions of particular genres of fiction. They will learn how deep and useful their knowledge of genre conventions is and explore how it can help them write in a way that is enjoyable, rewarding, and challenging. Join high school teacher and 2017 recipient of Indiana University's Philip B. Daghlian Outstanding Teaching of English Award, Bill Kenley, in this participatory workshop sponsored by the Hoosier Writing Project* at IUPUI. (Kenley is also a 2016 Eugene and Marylyn Glick Indiana Authors Awards Emerging Author Finalist.) *The Hoosier Writing Project (HWP), a site of the National Writing Project, offers professional development for teachers of writing at all levels.

Teachers, parents, and other supporting adults are welcomed to attend and observe this workshop for a nominal fee.

Scholastic Art & Writing Awards Student Workshop:

The Design Charrette

Wednesday, September 13, 2017

5:00 – 8:00 PM

For students of Grades 7-12 and supporting adults (parents, teachers, writing instructors) as observers

Clowes Memorial Hall, Krannert Room

Facilitated by: Next Great Architects

$20.00 for student participants; $5.00 for adult observers

A charrette is dedicated work towards a design goal. We will be working from whatever starting point you have through a design process that will get you closer to your finished project. The purpose of this workshop is to inspire and encourage your art, whether it be architecture or watercolors, animation or writing.

Next Great Architects is a teaching studio whose mission is to introduce young people to architecture and nurture their development in the craft and creativity. Join founder, Kionna Walker and staff to further your Scholastic submission to its ultimate design goal – the charrette!

Teachers, parents, and other supporting adults are welcomed to attend and observe this workshop for a nominal fee.